HOW TO USE

This document contains 576 race kits (comprising race, gender, name, physical description, languages, and secondary skill) and 432 class kits (comprising class, game statistics, possible alignments, additional languages, and gear) which can be combined to form complete, ready-to-play starting player characters for HYPERBOREA Third Edition. Any race kit can be combined with any class kit, yielding a possible 248,832 unique characters (even more if different alignments are considered). To generate a Waif of the Boreas, reference the table on the following page and use one of the following procedures:

Chosen Characters:

- Choose your character's gender.
- Choose a race from the Primary Race or Ancillary Race Table.
- Choose a race kit from the appropriate page (e.g., Kimmerian females are on p. 27).
- Choose a class from the Civilized Class or Barbaric Class Table. If variants of that class exist (as with warlocks, shamans, and legerdemainists), decide which to use.
- Choose a class kit from the appropriate page (e.g., cataphracts are on p. 65).
- Choose additional language(s), if applicable, from the Major Language or Minor Language Table.
- Choose an alignment from the possibilities listed in the selected class kit.

Random Characters:

- Roll d12 to determine gender: 1-6 = female, 7-12 = male.
- Roll d12 to determine race table: 1-11 = Primary Race, 12 = Ancillary Race.
- Roll d12 on the appropriate table to determine the exact race of the character.
- Roll d12 to determine a race kit from the appropriate page (e.g., Moor males are on p. 36).
- Roll d12 to determine which class table to use: 1-6 = Civilized Class, 7-12 = Barbaric Class.
- Roll d12 on the appropriate table to determine the class of the character. If four variants of that class exist (as with warlocks, shamans, and legerdemainists), roll d4 to determine which of the variants to use.
- Roll d12 to determine a specific class kit from the appropriate page (e.g., druids are on p. 93).
- If applicable, roll d12 on the Major Language Table for each additional language (other than Thieves' Cant or Druidic) noted in the class kit, rerolling duplicate results if necessary.
- If more than one possible alignment is given, roll d2, d3, d4, or d5 as appropriate to determine the specific alignment of the character.

N.B. Some players may elect to choose some aspects of their character whilst randomizing other aspects. For example, you might want to play a male Amazon, but prefer to allow the dice to decide everything else about the character's class, alignment, and so forth. As another example, random class selection can optionally be influenced by the nature of the character's race; e.g., Kimmerians might use Barbaric Class Table and Ixians might use Civilized Class Table.

EXAMPLES

Example One: Player #1 decides to create a male Ixian necromancer. He chooses the Male Ixian 9 race kit and the Necromancer 8 class kit. He chooses three additional languages and a Lawful Evil alignment. The character is now ready to play.

Chodainos Irganos, Male Ixian Necromancer

6' 9", 238 lbs, black eyes, black hair, dusky complexion, 21 years old

ST: 12 DX: 13 CN: 13 IN: 18 WS: 14 CH: 13 AC: 9 HP: 3

Alignment: Lawful Evil

Languages: Common, Thracian (Ixian dialect), Hellenic (Atlantean dialect), Hellenic (Hyperborean dialect), Keltic (Pictish dialect)

Secondary Skill: Farmer

Spells in Book: Command, invisibility to undead, write spell

Gear: Quarterstaff, sickle, silver dagger in leather sheath, sling, lead sling bullets ×20, backpack, 1 week iron rations, full wineskin, winter blanket, bandages, small sack, soft leather pouch, torches ×3, 50' silk rope, grappling hook, spell book, ink and quill, sheet of parchment, writing stick, piece of chalk, wooden holy symbol, phials of holy water ×2, wool robe, leather sandals, belt, wool cap, hooded wool cloak, 1 sp, 1 cp (38 lbs)

Example Two: Player #2 decides to create an entirely random character. She rolls a d12 for gender and gets an '4', so the character is female. Player #2 rolls a d12 to determine which race table will be used and gets a '7', for a Primary Race. She rolls a d12 on the Primary Race Table and gets another '7', so the character is a Kelt. Player #2 turns to page 25 and rolls d12 to find the specific Female Kelt race kit – Female Kelt 10. She elects not to evaluate whether Kelts are barbaric or civilized, and so rolls d12 to determine which class table to use – '4' indicates that she will roll on the Civilized Class Table. Player #2 rolls a '3' on that table, so the character will be a cleric. She turns to page 57 and rolls d12, with the result being that she will use the Cleric 12 kit. The character knows no additional languages. There are five possible alignments, so Player #2 rolls d5 and gets a '2' – Chaotic Good. The character is now ready to play.
